

Four Key Cyberrisk Management Questions for Directors and Officers

Risk Management

September 1, 2017

By: Richik Sarkar

Courts have historically made it difficult to hold directors and officers personally liable for breaches of fiduciary duties. But as cyberrisk management liability standards evolve, directors and officers increasingly face the risk of personal exposure. Member Richik Sarkar (Cleveland) addresses these issues in "Four Key Cyberrisk Management Questions for Directors and Officers," published in Risk Management magazine. Read the full article here.

Related Professionals
Richik Sarkar

Related Services
Cybersecurity and Data Privacy