

Structured Finance

As structured finance becomes an increasingly important funding source for competitive businesses, McGlinchey Stafford attorneys guide clients through their complex projects and financing transactions.

Our attorneys represent institutional investors, commercial banks, utilities, and governmental agencies. Areas of counsel include:

- Asset securitization
- Collateralized Debt Obligation (CDOs)
- Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities (CMBS)
- Credits enhancements
- Leveraged leasing
- Loan pools - sales and purchases

A significant area of experience is in real estate, commercial and maritime lending, municipal finance transactions, and mineral finance matters.

To leverage firm wide resources and add value to client representation, we team with firm colleagues in commercial finance, consumer financial services, banking law, tax, real estate, public finance, and bankruptcy.
